

Abstract

A positive resist composition comprises (A) a resin comprising specific repeating units and coming to have enhanced solubility in an alkaline developing solution by the action of an acid and (B) a compound generating an acid by the action of actinic rays or a radiation.